

LEWIS' BACK-TO-WORK ORDER NATIONAL CRISIS ENDS; MINES TO OPEN TODAY

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8 (UP)—The United Mine Workers back-to-work order, issued Saturday by their boss, John L. Lewis, indicated a return to production in the Nation's soft coal mines Monday. The strike, if prolonged, would have so magnified a national economic crisis that an estimated ten million workers would have been idle within a period of several weeks. Industry was making plans today to resume normal business which has been curtailed by the 17-day walkout of nearly half a million miners.

Some maintenance crews have already headed for the pits, but operators warned that the strike's end "does not mean the fuel supply has become plentiful."

It is expected that most of the miners will go back to work tomorrow. As their UMW chief has ordered, they will follow the terms of the contract with the Government, which has been operating the mines since the last coal strike in May.

The sudden end to the strike brought a feeling of relief to many mining towns which were expecting to go without pay checks before Christmas. However, most of them were holding meetings today to pass on the back-to-work action. Some miners told reporters in the field they were glad it was "all over" but others expressed resentment.

The end of the walkout terminated the Government regulations imposed to conserve fuel for essential purposes as long as possible. The ban on passenger travel was revoked, the 21-state dimout canceled, freight and express embargoes lifted.

The choking off of millions of tons of coal had caused the furloughing of nearly 300,000 workers in other industries, hitting especially at the steel, railroad and automobile lines. Many schools throughout the country were forced to suspend classes.

San Jose State Gets $4,000,000

"I was very well pleased with the atmosphere, and expect to get a reasonable budget," says E. S. Thompson, comptroller who just returned from Sacramento where he attended a budget hearing with the State Director of Finance to discuss appropriations requested by San Jose State college in October.

Four million dollars was the figure estimated by Mr. Thompson early this quarter to cover the period from July 1, 1947 to June 30, 1949. However, the results of the November election necessitated the changing of the budget period from a biennial to an annual basis. Therefore, the figure will be divided into two separate appropriations.

Mr. Harry Brakebill, assistant comptroller, and Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie also attended the hearing at which representatives from all state financed bodies meet to discuss budgets submitted, policies, and major items. On the basis of the meeting, the governor will prepare his budget to be submitted to the legislature for action in January.

Eleven Die In New Hotel Fire

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Dec. 8 (UP) — At least 11 persons were killed and 18 injured today in the second disastrous hotel fire within 24 hours as flames swept through the Barry Hotel here.

Searchers still were combing the ruins for bodies and it was feared the death toll would increase.

The fire, sweeping through the hotel in a matter of minutes, followed by less than 24 hours a flash fire which killed 114 persons and injured nearly 100 in a hotel in Atlanta, Ga.

GRIPE DINNER INSTRUCTIONS

Tonight the Gripe Dinner will be held and the ASB office has submitted the following information for all persons concerned.

The Gripe dinner will begin at 6:30 at the Hawaiian Gardens and the cost will be $2.56 per person.

In order that the dinner may be paid for in advance, and so that the proper number of tables can be set up, those who plan to attend must make reservations today in the Business office.

All persons who have extra room in their cars please stop and pick up those who have no transportation between 6 and 6:15 o'clock.

It is to be remembered that no gripes will be considered unless a solution is mentioned along with the problem.

CORRECTION

Tryouts for the leading parts of "Ethan Frome" will be held on Thursday and Friday, instead of Wednesday as previously announced. Copies of the play have been placed on reserve in the Reserve Library room for students interested.

GAMMA BETA INITIATES

Thirty-three pledges gave their vows of service at Gamma Beta chapter of Alpha Phi Omega's formal initiation Thursday evening.

The rites were conducted by Ed Carmen, president of the fraternity. He was assisted by members Ernie Hamelin, Warren Rose, Glen Eglington, Jack Gillis, and Bill Swasey.

Following the formal ceremonies, held in Adolph's in Santa Clara, old and new members sat down to a dinner to commemorate the event.

Jack Gillis, publicity manager of the organization has announced that that members of Alpha Phi Omega will donate blood in the near future. "We are holding our elections Tuesday and all Gamma Betas should plan to attend," Gillis said.

Gamma Beta is the only national fraternity on campus. It is the local chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national Boy Scout service fraternity.

LAST MEETING FOR CCF

Russ Churchill, sophomore speech major, will be in charge of the last Monday CCF meeting of the quarter today from 12:30 to 1:20 in the Morris Dailey auditorium. He will lead the group in a Bible study and discussion. Bob Pitman, freshman from Saratoga, will conduct the song service.

President Dave Fraley asks that as many CCF members as possible attend the meetings this week. Thursday will be the last meeting day of the quarter.

COOP SHUT DOWN TO REMODEL

As a climax to months of preparation, the Spartan Shop fountain and lunch counter will close Friday at which time an extensive program of improvement, remodeling and installation of new facilities is to begin.

According to Miss Ada Gardner, manager of the lunch counter, the removal of the present equipment and the installation of new plumbing, which entails removal of part of the concrete floor, will necessitate closing the shop until after the Christmas holidays. It is hoped that the remodeling will be completed in time to resume service when the new quarter begins, she said.

Present plans for the renovation of the fountain provide for its extension over the space formerly occupied by the book store, thus doubling the number of customers it is now capable of accommodating.

Entirely new in the field of restaurant equipment is the Deacon Conduction cooker which will be installed in a stainless-steel soft drink and hamburger bar to be built in the alcove now used as a cigarette counter. This greasless cooker is capable of cooking twelve hamburgers a minute and is now standard equipment in many new drive-in restaurants where the demand for rapid service is great.

The installation of new facilities which includes peeling and slicing machines as well as several large refrigeration units, is to be done by the Fred S. Campbell company of San Francisco, suppliers of restaurant equipment.

La Torre Money Is Due Tomorrow

"Will students selling La Torres who have not yet turned in their money do so by tomorrow afternoon?" asks Business manager Bill Ellsworth.

"Grand Old Man" Leaves COP

Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg, 84-year old "Grand Old Man of Football," has resigned as head coach of College of Pacific, according to a United Press release over the week-end.

Stagg resigned his post to accept a position at Susquehanna university, in Pennsylvania. He will be with his son, who is head coach at Susquehanna.

At COP 14 years, his teams had never beaten the Spartans, but while at Chicago university, he won seven Big Ten championships. The most notable Spartan-COP game was against his close friend and arch-gridiron rival, Glenn "Pop" Warner. The Spartans won 13 to 3.

KEEP IT CLEAN

AWA STARTS CAMPAIGN TO KEEP CAMPUS CLEAN

Pick it up! Clean it up! Keep it neat! Today marks the beginning of the Associated Women's Activities first campaign to clean up the college campus. "During the quarter students have become more and more careless about leaving empty lunch boxes and paper bags on the ground in the inner and outer Quads," said Joanne Hoffman, chairman of the campaign. By calling this unnecessary carelessness to the attention of the students AWA feels that a large part of the problem will be solved.

Particular emphasis will be placed on enforcing the Student Union rules which are posted on the large pillar in the center of the Union. The rules are:

1. No card playing.
2. No drinking of any beverage, including coke.
3. No eating of lunches or any food. (Exception will be made for night meetings.)
4. No smoking after 5:30 p. m.
5. Careful use of the furniture.
6. No cluttering of the tables. (Picture on page two)

Marilyn Zeller, chairman of the Student Union hostesses, warns students that anyone violating the above rules will have to appear before the Student court. "So far," said Miss Zeller, "students have been swell about it. Most of them have accepted the rules and the few that have forgotten and done something wrong have stopped as soon as they were reminded by one of the hostesses."

In keeping with the clean-up campaign AWA plans to ask assistance of the sororities on campus. Each sorority will be asked to be responsible for one week when they will guarantee to have girls in the Student Union on Friday afternoon to straighten the furniture and pick up the papers.

GET YOUR GRADES

Students may obtain grades by mail if they place 5 cents with their address in one of the envelopes provided in front of the Information office, or they may leave a self-addressed, stamped envelope (regular 3½ inches by 6½ size) in the box.

Envelopes may be deposited any time between December 12 and 20.

Mu Deltas Begin Survey of Vets

Charges that 40 per cent of the veterans are not receiving their subsistence checks are to be investigated this week.

Mu Delta Pi will conduct a survey of the asserted delinquency of payment in conjunction with the office of the co-ordinator of veterans' affairs.

According to Dean Drew, chairman of the survey committee, the veterans' fraternity will have a booth at the entrance to the inner Quad, today through Friday. Vets who have not been paid may obtain a new form, which, when filled out, will be collected by vets' co-ordinator E. W. Clements. He will forward them to the regional chief of education and training for special action.

Drew's committee will also send the compiled information to Congressman Jack Anderson.

STATE JOBS OPEN IN JAN.

Statewide examinations will be held during January by the State Personnel board for a variety of jobs.

The examinations and dates follow:

January 7: Band and Orchestra leader, $230; experienced cannery inspectors, $240-385; supervising materials analyst, Bureau of Furniture and Bedding inspection, $310; janitor, $150-180.

January 11: key punch operator, $140-160; addressing machine operator, $150; junior estimator of building construction, $240; assistant oil and gas engineer, $295; laundryman, $170; and laundry helper, $150.

January 14: elementary teacher at institution for the mentally deficient, $210-250; (January 21) bacteriologist, $210-250.

Applications should be filed with the State Personnel board about three weeks before the examination date. Offices of the board are in Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Francisco.

It's Up To Fresno

Before irate students rush over to the Athletic department to complain about the price of Raisin Bowl tickets, they should stop and think the situation over.

The San Jose State football team is representing the CCAA at the Raisin Bowl. All other arrangements, including the ticket price, are made by the Raisin Bowl committee.

The price of $3.60 was decided upon after careful consideration of costs involved, and even as things now stand, Fresno may suffer a loss. The only thing Fresno is sure of gaining is prestige for the Raisin Bowl.

Before we complain, let us examine the facts, and if complaints are still believed to be in order, let us not direct them at the Athletic department, but to the committee responsible.

Talent Wanted

Spartan Revelries, the annual student variety production, has great potentialities. Whether or not they are realized depends on both the director and the student body as a whole.

Talented Spartans who can contribute to the quality of the show should offer their services. Unless "Doc" Arends knows what talent is available, he cannot choose the performers who will best fit into the show.

Last spring, the student council took steps to make Revelries production one of close cooperation among the director, other members of the Revelries board, and the council. This was done in an attempt to insure a successful show this winter.

Tryouts will begin next Wednesday, although Revelries will not open until February 11. The board has thus shown its desire to work hard for a successful show. It is now up to the students to contribute their talents—an indication that they want a successful Revelries, too.

PROPS TAKE LIFE IN BROADWAY HIT KISS AND TELL

There's a tree that grew in Brooklyn, and then there's the tree that is growing in the Little Theater. It looks realistic enough to have been transplanted by Dr. Robert H. Rhodes himself.

This is the tree which grows in the Archer's backyard, on the set of "Kiss and Tell." It is the only other living thing besides the audience that knows all the secrets of all the characters.

FENCY

"Kiss and Tell" is the story of an average (?) American family, and so the set is the backyard of an ordinary (?) American home. Much of the action takes place between the Archers and the Pringles, who don't know what a fence was built for, and can hurdle the gate like track stars.

The set, which was built by the Play Production class, is a realistic exterior scene. It is a great contrast from the formal set which was used in the production of the "Duchess of Malfi." Lighting will play a very definite part in producing the realistic effect. Correct and clever lighting will give the effect of the sun (or moon) shining through leaves of the tree.

WEDNESDAY

"Kiss and Tell" will open Wednesday night at 8:15. It is expected that the Little Theater will be filled with laughter the entire evening. The audience should not overlook the settings, however, as they add a great deal to the production and the persons who worked on them are to be commended. Stage manager for the play is Mrs. Haack. William Nelligan is the electrician.

ETA EPSILON GO ALL OUT FOR DAILY XMAS TOY PILE

By BETTY McCONKEY

"Dolls, dolls, and more dolls, but we only get to keep them until Christmas," lamented Spartan Daily Staff members. They were referring to the gaily wrapped stuffed dolls made especially for County Hospital children by the Eta Epsilon members, and now under the Publication office Christmas tree.

With soft yarn hair and bright dresses, these cuddly dolls will charm the little girls confined in bed at the hospital. Some lucky girl will also get the doll bed now weighted down with the Christmas packages.

DOLL HOUSE

Besides the dolls, Eta Epsilon president Gayl Quinn, and Fay Boley brought in a complete doll house, all ready to be set up, and a box filled with doll's clothes. Games brought in by the club girls have the Daily Staff wondering if they couldn't repeal the rule keeping staff members from playing with the Christmas tree toys.

There are plenty of boys bedridden in the Santa Clara county hospital and the Daily staffers are hoping he-man gifts will start rolling in for them. With only the remainder of this week and final week left for the drive, contributors can't put off bringing in their gifts much longer.

NOT COSTLY

Anyone can buy a cheap toy—or bring one from home—put it under the Spartan Daily tree and know it will make a youngster happy on Christmas Day. "We would like to have other organizations show the interest Eta Epsilon did, with their contribution to the bedridden children," declared Phil Ginn, chairman of the Spartan toy drive.

LET'S KEEP IT CLEAN

Professor Stone Makes a Funny In Classifying Canine

"Grrrr," growled an uninvited four legged heckler Friday morning as Professor George Stone was attempting to lecture on the subject of lenses to a group of his smiling unattentive photography students.

The little intruder whose antics were distracting the students soon drew Prof. Stone's attention. He became alarmed at this interruption and took a quick look around the room. The little heckler turned out to be a cute little dog.

The genial professor, not to be outdone by the pooch, picked him up and hoisted him on the desk. Mr. Stone gave the pup a piece of cellophane and allowed the pup to chew on his fingers.

Confident that he had now regained the students' attention, Prof. Stone proceeded with his lecture. The lecture soon became very boring to the uninvited heckler who wearily got up and left in the middle of it.

When Prof. Stone was asked to describe the pup's parentage, he said simply, "Careless."

AROUND CAMPUS

With HURMUSES

STOP IN A STORE AND BUY A TOY

Now that the rains have come . . . and are here to stay for a couple of months, at least, where do we go to eat, relax, and study in our off-hours? The student council voted for some sort of relief to the expected congestion by throwing open the doors of the gymnasium each noon. That will help.

BROTHER VACUUM

Naturally if the idea materializes, some sort of planning for supervision will have to go into effect. It was suggested that fraternities assume the responsibility of policing and cleaning up the untidiness which is bound to come with those using the gym.

And naturally, that's not a small job. However, the problem can be lessened by a process of rotation, and the even distribution of work. At any rate, it's a good idea to make a little more room for the students around here. Any ideas or suggestions that any of you might have may be brought to the attention of any of your ASB representatives. They'll appreciate it.

CHRISTMAS

You know, we have a Christmas tree in the Pub office. It's been a policy with the staff to have a toy drive for needy children every year . . . and all you students have been asked again to help us make a happier Christmas for those less fortunate.

All you have to do is bring in any old or new playthings which you have hanging around. It makes no difference if they're out of repair. That will be taken care of by local organizations. But they want something to work with.

It will take just a few minutes of your time to bring in your gift, and put it under our tree. We'll see that some underprivileged kid gets it with your "Merry Christmas."

How about it . . . ?

LYCURGUS OUT THIS WEEK--- THEME IS 'HOW STATE LIVES'

No doubt about it, Lycurgus comes out this week! The hurry-scurry of last minute details is over and the campus quarterly magazine will reach the stands by mid-week selling for 35 cents a copy.

A feature by Willetta Sullivan entitled "How State Lives" is the main theme of the autumn edition. The story is strictly student stuff, and the reader gets the low down on how the student survives in spite of high prices of the day and the housing situation. In humorous fashion, Barbara Baumann describes how students work their way through college in a little piece dubbed "Some Call It Vacation." Another light item discussing student housing is "Gospel by Wes" by Wesley Payton.

Other features and short stories to appear in the December issue include a football yarn, "When

The Indians Fought For Warner" by John Keith Pope; Phil Robertson's band story, "Best Foot Forward;" a story on the Spartan Daily toy drive, called "Santa's Lil' Helpers" by Phil Ginn; "The Woman Within" by Jean Grenbeaux which is a personal interview with Mrs. Edith Henrich of the English department, and author of a book of poems entitled "Quiet Center."

From the pen of John Mise comes a clever satire on the "Co-ed's Mind." Light bits of humor will be found in "Salami At Six" by Wally Trabling; "The Slippery Sliderule" by Jean Grenbeaux and "Homework Bound" by Charles Anderson. Of the more serious mode is "The Wen" by Jim Dilles. Cartoons of student life by Donna Shreiber are also a feature of the magazine.

NELSON EDDY FROM OPERA TO COWBOY MOVIES

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6 (UP)—

Hang on to your hats, music lovers. Here comes your concert star, Nelson Eddy, as a (Bang! Bang!) movie cowboy. With a trained hoss, a 10-gallon-hat, and a gee-tar.

Yep, that's what he's aimin' to do next, pahdner. And that just goes to show ya how three months' work at Republic Studios'll affect ya. Even a dignified, opera-singin' hombre like Eddy.

"Only instead of horse operas I'll turn out hoss operettas," Eddy added. "And I'm serious. 'What's more popular these days than a good western with music?'"

He may not have Jeanette MacDonald around to warble his cowboy ditties to. But he can always croon across a campfire at Sir Ebony.

"That's my horse," Eddy grinned. "A pretty fancy-pants nag he is, too. Right now we're training him to do tricks like Trigger."

And our blonde hero, who up to now has confined his movie horsemanship to a few quiet canters as a Northwest Mountie in "Rose Marie," is spending his weekends learning to ride it rough 'n ready in the San Fernando Valley.

CLASS VISITS CAMERA SHOP

More than 80 students of Professor George Stone's photography class paid a visit last week to the Royal Camera Shop located on South Second Street near Santa Clara Ave.

Mr. Leo Mandel, owner of the store, had recently extended an invitation to Mr. Stone to have his photography classes visit his shop and view his extensive laboratories.

Professor Stone has announced that he will have his classes pay a visit to the Royal Camera Shop's photography laboratories once a quarter.

Special Daily Sales---2500

"Twenty-five hundred copies of the 'Hello Folks' edition of the Spartan Daily were sold during the '30' Club's two day drive to raise money for the Chapel fund," according to Hal Snook, editor.

"Copies of this edition are being sent by students to every state in the union and to nearly every major country in the world. It seems to me that our Hello Folks edition is accomplishing three things at once. It is telling the folks at home about San Jose State college. It is raising money for the Chapel fund and it is giving national and worldwide publicity to our college," says Snook.

V-2 ROCKET SETS NEW SPEED RECORD TRAVELING 5,000 FEET PER SECOND

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M., Dec. 5 (UP)—A new speed record of 5,000 feet per second was set by the 16th firing of the V-2 rocket today, but it narrowly missed smashing all altitude records.

The missile failed by nine miles to crack the existing altitude record of 104 miles. Today's firing propelled the rocket to a height of 95 miles.

The previous speed record was set by the 12th V-2 rocket fired at White Sands on Oct. 10. The 16th reached the estimated 5,000 feet per second at the time the fuel was cut off.

Impact point of the rocket had not yet been located, but was believed to be as much as 80 miles due north. Scientists indicated that distance also would set a new record for rocket-firing.

THE HOT CORNER

By DICK FREY

The Thrust and Parry entitled "Prune Bowl" escaped us for a few days in the dust that was kicked up over the impending Raisin Bowl game. However, now that the smoke has cleared, and most of the arguments have been settled permanently by Keith Pope's article elsewhere in this page, we would like to take a quick kick at a fallen idea.

Considering the article from top to bottom, there are a number of points which should be clarified. San Jose State's athletic officials are on the ball. The idea that you accuse them of letting slip through their fingers is not "an ideal way to raise money"—far from it. Another thing, it's not the athletic department of Fresno State college that is sponsoring the Raisin Bowl, but rather the Fresno Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Drake University played San Jose State in 1939. True, there was a packed stadium for the contest, but it was an Elks benefit game for a proposed "Boys Town" similar to the one run by Spencer Tracy and MGM. Being a benefit, the gate cuts for both teams were lowered to bar essentials. In your proposed "Prune Bowl" it is very doubtful whether or not the Memorial Chapel would be as strong as a 'benefit' draw. Football teams are becoming more high priced every day, so it is quite possible that you would have difficulty finding an intersectional opponent ready to play for the San Jose State Memorial Chapel fund.

Mssrs. Close and Daniels, you ask, "why should San Jose State make notoriety for Fresno?"—it sounds like a good question, but why should Illinois make notoriety for Pasadena, and why should COP make money for Houston, Texas by meeting North Texas State there New Year's in the Optimist Bowl? If the truth would out, I'm sure we'll find that except for a couple of the major post-season games, most of the "bowls" break even or lose money. As Pope's story on the Raisin bowl says, "In years to come this game might develop into a money-making proposition," at present it will more likely be a monkey-making proposition.

Swim Coach Issues Call; Report Today

Swimming Coach C. L. Walker has issued an invitation to all men who are interested in trying out for the Freshmen and Varsity swimming teams to sign up in his office by either today or Wednesday.

The coach is expecting a large turnout this year and would like to have his candidates sign up early as he may have to limit his squads.

The pool will be opened to these men from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock every afternoon. They will be given one unit for participating on the teams.

"We are planning a heavy schedule for this year," declared Coach Walker enthusiastically. "We are also expecting plenty of stiff competition this year."

The complete schedule and plans for the next year will be announced later.

SPARTAN QUINTETS DROP DOUBLEHEADER TO SACRAMENTO SQUADS

BY PAUL VON HAFITEN

More than 1500 fans saw Coach Dave Kelly's high flying and American Basketball league Sacramento Senators led by Roy Tamm and W. Taylor turn back a thrilling last minute rush by Coach Walt McPherson's hard fighting Spartan quintet in a rough and exciting contest here last Saturday to win by score of 44-38.

Behind 26-37, late in the second half, the Spartans began to hit the basket with Stu Inman and Ivan Robinson leading the attack at this junction and came within four points 36-40 of tying the cage tilt.

Fouls were the telling blow as the Eagle Eyed Senators dropped in 12 out of 20 free throws to our eight. The Spartans also had bad luck in hitting the basket at critical times during the contest and that was another asset to the fine and alert Sacramento ball club.

Both squads showed excellent ball handling ability. Outstanding players for the Senators were Taylor, Tamm and Tony Braginetz. Robinson, Inman, Ted Holmes and Captain Hal Sontag were among the Spartan stars. Tamm was the Senators high man with 14 points and Inman scored 10 for the Spartans.

Sacramento led at half time 26-16.

In the preliminary contest, the junior college national champions from Sacramento college outlasted the Spartan Junior Varsity squad and won by a score of 49-30. The Spartan Babes came within one point of tying the contest 24-25 midway in the last half, but the champions became red hot and couldn't miss their shots. George Stanich led the visitors attack with 15 points while Montgomery scored eight for the Spartans.

The Spartans meet the highly touted Borlo Athletic club of San Francisco Wednesday. They have won seven out of eight contests.

FELSE NAMED GRAD. MGR.

Director of Athletics Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft announced Friday that Bill Felse is San Jose state college's new graduate manager. Felse is taking over the position formerly held by Jerry Vroom who was forced to give up his work because of illness.

Graduate Manager Felse received his AB degree at San Jose State college in December of 1941 and his physical education secondary credential in March of 1942.

Last spring Felse was named tennis coach of the Spartans. Later he gave up his coaching job to go into business for himself.

Felse held the rank of first lieutenant while serving in the Army air corps. He and his wife reside in San Jose.

BOWL TICKETS COST $3.60 DRILLS BEGIN

By KEITH POPE

Raisin Bowl tickets $3.60!

This exclamation was heard all over the campus Friday when the price of the Raisin Bowl ducats was announced. Well, young folk, let us first put you straight on one thing and please keep it in mind. The San Jose State FOOTBALL TEAM and not the students are the guests of the Raisin Bowl committee. That is where the San Jose part of it ends. Now, here is the reason students must pay $3.60.

FACTS AND FIGURES

The Raisin Bowl tilt will be held in Ratcliffe stadium in Fresno. This stadium has the seating capacity of approximately 14,200 people. The Fresno Junior Chamber of Commerce says that it will cost $30,000 to go through with the Raisin Bowl contest and here are the rest of the figures:

$30,000 estimated cost of game.
$4,500 rental of stadium.
$5,000 to San Jose State college.
$10,000 to Utah (traveling squad).
$3,000 for promotion purposes.
$28,500 total.

In other words, Spartans, the Raisin Bowl has a chance (and a darn slim one) of clearing $1,500 plus publicity. We must remember this is only the second annual Raisin Bowl affair. In years to come this game might develop into a money-making proposition but it is not a profit-making deal at this time.

RAISIN BOWL DRILLS

The first step in whipping the San Jose State college gridders into top condition for their Raisin Bowl tilt against Utah State Aggies will be taken this afternoon when Coach Bill Hubbard starts light practice drills on San Carlos turf.

Coach Hubbard plans to have his teams run through signal drills until the squads have their timing down to perfection. Heavy contact will not get underway until the final two weeks of practicing.

SPARTAN WRESTLERS FACE HEAVY WINTER SCHEDULE

Wrestling Coach Ted Mumby announces that Spartan grapplers will participate in at least six meets next quarter, opening the 1947 season at Berkeley against the California Golden Bears, January 16.

The matmen are tentatively scheduled to make only one home appearance, February 1 against the Stanford Indians. The Spartans nosed out the Cards last month, 12 1/2-11 1/2.

Coach Mumby is dickering with California and San Francisco State college to have them come here during February and March.

The Pacific Coast Intercollegiate championships will be held in southern California, probably at UCLA, sometime during March. Stanford, San Jose State, and California will be among those sending representatives to the meet.

The California Collegiate Athletic association tournament will be held about March 7 and 8, probably at Santa Barbara college. Colleges in the conference are: College of Pacific, San Jose State, Fresno State, Cal Poly, San Diego State and Santa Barbara.

The Northern California Junior Wrestling tournament will take place at Berkeley January 25. Wrestlers who haven't taken a first or second place in a senior meet are eligible for this tourney.

The Far Western Conference championships will take place sometime during the next quarter. The date and location of this meet will be announced later.

Coach Mumby will announce today or tomorrow the final selection of 24 men who will accompany the team to Berkeley Wednesday when they meet the Bears in an informal match. Phil Bray and George Ehling will not be able to participate in the meet due to the injuries they received against Stanford last month.
